Project ACT

In October of 2016, the Department began searching for a new crime fighting model that began in mid-2017. That model was "Project ACT", Addressing Crime Together. The model followed the ground work laid by NHSTA in its program DDACTS. DDACTS stands for Data Driven Approaches to Crime and Traffic Safety. The idea behind this method is looking at areas of a city with the densest incidents of violent crime and traffic accidents. Once you identify that area, you focus as much resources on visibility in that area. Traffic stops, pedestrian checks, meal breaks, community events, writing reports, or just driving through are all encouraged in that zone. With the increased visibility and proactive work, the number of occurrences for violent crimes should decrease, ultimately decreasing the overall incidents of violent crime in a city.

Believe it or not it's been 20 months we have been doing this program. Comparing this last 20 months to the 20 months prior to Project ACT, drive by shootings have decreased by 22.7%. Overall violent crime has decreased by 14%. Property crimes have decreased 28.1 %. Overall target crimes have decreased by 25.7 %. Even after 20 months these are great numbers still. We are for sure going to be doing Project Act in the DDACTS zone for at least another 3 month to see what the two year comparisons are. We may even continue for another year.

Operation I.C.O.N. Impacting Crime in Our Neighborhoods

In 2018, we started a new initiative to combat crime in our neighborhoods utilizing a very similar concept of DDACTS. One of the major difference from the DDACTS model of crime fighting, the ICON zone is always changing. Our officers work hard to dedicate time to the affected areas in order to decrease the amount of criminal activity in that zone.

Chief Zeigler has made it a priority to show images of our officers working in our city. From car stops and disturbances to community meetings and events, the community can see us at work.

Summer Cadet Program

In efforts to increase positive police interaction with young people in our community, we had our first Summer Work Program in 2018. The program is designed to teach entry level skills such as customer service, work ethic, clerical skills, and community engagement. The Cadets attend neighborhood watch meetings and business district anti-crime meetings. They serve in community food kitchens and assist with community cleanup projects over the summer months.

Animal Services Unit

Animal Services held a low-cost adoption event at the shelter in October 2018, and had a great volunteer and adoption turn out. The next shelter event will take place this spring. If you are interested in volunteering at Animal Services please contact the shelter.

Animal Services also recently started a Facebook page to help communicate future events. The page also serves as a platform to show the community which animals are available for adoption.
